The fighters entered the ring shortly before 19 o'clock and looked in the best at chape. Smith was the favorite in the betting, as his friends seemed to think the could not lose.

After the boys had been introduced the timekeeper yelied time and the boys sprang to the centre. After sparring for a few seconds Smith let fly his left, which rescaled Moore's face, the latter countering with a right away and body at close quarters.

The boys fought hard after that, slugging each other all around the fewer. The third round Moore reached Smith's stomach with his right and as guide, as e dash Smith crossed his right to Moore's jaw, dropping him to the fear, where he was counted out by Reference Joe Wefl.
